How To Access Bloomberg Market Concepts (BMC)

Logging on through the Bloomberg Terminal:

1. Log into Bloomberg terminal.
2. Run the function BMC<GO> by entering BMC into the command line and hitting enter.

Click Sign Up and create a new BMC login using a non-Bloomberg email, preferably your university email. If you have taken the Bloomberg Aptitude Test (BAT) previously, you should use these same credentials.

Please note: if you log in to BMC through a Bloomberg terminal, you will not be entitled to the web version of BMC; if you would prefer accessibility to both, please go to the instructions for logging on through the web.

4. If you are taking BMC as part of a class or group, please check the box found under the password field.

5. Enter the group code provided by your professor if applicable and click OK.

6. Check the box to confirm that you have read and agree to the Terms of Service.

7. Click Sign Up.

8. Check your non-Bloomberg email address, as you will be receiving a confirmation with instructions on activating your account. Click on the Activate My Account link.

9. Begin BMC. BMC will take about 8-10 hours and is self-paced. You are welcome to exit and re-enter the course as necessary. Upon finishing all 4 modules, you will receive a certificate of completion. THIS CERTIFICATE IS GIVEN TO EVERYONE AND IS NOT SUFFICIENT TO PASS FRE-GY.5500. READ THIS WHOLE DOCUMENT!

Logging on through the web:

1. Go to https://portal.bloombergforeducation.com/sign_up.

2. Click on the “Learner” tab as shown below and create your BMC login using your NYU email address. Sign up for BMC using your NYU email to receive complimentary access to the web-based version of BMC.

3. Check your NYU email, as you will be receiving a confirmation email with a link to activate your account. Click on the link. You will see an “order summary” for $0 USD.
